

Updates from Last Week

6/28/2022

Money Updates

A bank account has been made, and payments are set to be coming through, it may not be a ton right now but it will be something

Around July 15th Dillion is set to meet with Steve and that will be helping out to get us to the point were we make the bigger money

Github projects have the stories of the things that we are working on for the week

Things that will be worked on later on

Search page:

Page contains the slider from register and login pages
Along with a search bar(text field)

Make Offer Page:

A Search bar to find people/businesses in the db
A search bar/dropdown selector for the products
Section that is labeled, Socials that will contain social media that we will have people show it off from
If the user is considered a business then there will be a section that will show amount offer
Ending the page with a button that says "Send Offer"

Offer Accept/Deny page:

This page will display the information that is from the make offer page in a clean way that will also be easily readable
Containing two buttons, one for accepting and one for denying offer
After either of the buttons are clicked, a confirmation popup should come through

Item Component –Research into how to do that

This is something that is found in the bio of the user/business that will show off pictures of the products and their names and each item will also have the tags that the business puts on them

In the user side, it will also have their opinion/writeup about the product

This is the mockup of the design for the item component